

Handled with care 2010

Chiltern Woodland Burial Park, Beaconsfield, in Buckinghamshire are hosting the event from 10am to 4pm on the weekend of 10th and 11th July 2010.

This coffin exhibition is aimed at both funeral directors and the public.

It will provide visitors the unique opportunity to see a full range of coffins, made from every conceivable material, hopefully empowering interested people to make informed choices for the future, or to simply satisfy their curiosity. The event will be opened by Ken Satterly, the BIFD National President, and refreshments will be available all weekend, with the proceeds being donated to the president's charity – Iain Rennie Hospice at Home.

The event is being organized by two members of the British Institute of Funeral Directors, Colin Liddell, the Editor and Public Relations Officer for the BIFD and Fran Hall, who is a manager at the Chiltern Woodland Burial Park. The Institute of Civil Funerals and the Natural Death Centre will also be attending.

The last highly acclaimed Handled With Care Exhibition in Northumberland saw 1350 visitors in two days and enjoyed positive coverage throughout a full media spectrum, including regional and BBC TV and radio. The last event attracted visitors from all around the country. This event fully accords with the key principle of the BIFD – education.
